

The No. 1 Moving Destination In America Hasn't Changed In At Least 4 Years

Rob Wile

Last year, truck rental giant Penske told us the No. 1 moving destination in America was Atlanta.

The year before that, they told us the No. 1 moving destination in America was Atlanta.

And the year before that.

And now we learn that this year, everyone is ... still moving to Atlanta.

Some notable facts about Atlanta according to Penske:

- Median household income: $46,146
- Average listing price: $244,000
- U.S. size ranking: 33
- Average temperature in May: 79 degrees Fahrenheit
- Famous for: international sports, soft drinks, Georgia peaches

Here's the full list of the top moving destinations in America for 2013 according to Penske, gathered from reservations data. The 2012 ranking in parentheses.

1. Atlanta (1)
2. Tampa, Fla./Sarasota, Fla. (new combined entry)
3. Dallas/Fort Worth (2)
4. Orlando, Fla. (4)
5. Phoenix (3)
6. Houston (6)
7. Seattle (8)
8. Chicago (5)
9. Denver (7)
10. Las Vegas (new!)

PENSKE TRUCK RENTAL

TOP 10 MOVING DESTINATIONS

Over the last four years, Penske Truck Rental has produced an annual list of its top moving destinations in the United States. The Atlanta metro area remained No. 1 for the fourth consecutive year.

